

Scope of Studying in Canada

Invictus (The Commerce Society), Department of Commerce of Mata Sundri College for Women, University of Delhi organized a live lecture on Scope of Studying in Canada for Indian Students on 27th November, 2021. The lecture was conducted via Zoom digital platform from 4:00 pm onwards with a presence of more than 180 students. The lecture was conducted with a view to apprise students about the scope of studying in Canada and giving knowledge about different colleges and universities in Canada. The Convenor of the event was Dr Ishpreet Virdi, Assistant Professor, Department of Commerce and Co-convenor of the event was Ms Manjot Kaur, Assistant Professor, Department of Commerce. The event started by seeking the blessings of Mata Sundri Ji, followed by a brief introduction of our esteemed principal, Prof. Harpreet Kaur. The speaker of the lecture, Dr. Maina Chawla Singh, was then welcomed and introduced too. She is a professor-mentor, internationally published author, and former faculty member at Georgetown and various American universities. Her scholarly work lies at the intersections of Sociology, Gender, Migration Studies, and at the prestigious Kennedy Center.

The lecture started with the question to students- "Why do you want to go to Canada?", answering to which the speaker explained how does the geographic, demographic, and economical conditions of a country at large affect its immigration and education policy. "Canada has a flexible immigration policy because of less population density as they need people to come and work there", the speaker stated. She also thoroughly explained the idea of finding one's niche and going for courses that will be helpful in the further development of society as a whole.

Towards the end of the session, a question and answer round was conducted to solve the queries of students. The speaker answered all the questions which were dropped in the chatbox very patiently. The lecture was concluded with a vote of thanks to the speakers, technical team, faculty members and participants. The response of the participants was overwhelming and the session was interactive throughout. Indeed, the program was a success and the aim to make students aware of the scope and complexities of studying in Canada and various courses that can be pursued was well accomplished.
