

Artocracy: The Confluence of Art and Democracy held on 27th February 2021

The Dept. of Political Science organized a one-day inter-departmental fest “Artocracy: The Confluence of Art and Democracy.” The focused on the relationship between Art and Democracy. Arts in general and theatre in particular can strengthen Democracy by way of creative participation in the affairs of society and state. Arts involve awareness, critical appreciation, imagination, right to create, innovative communication and so on. All these are essential for strengthening democracy. The issue is to actually adopt arts against so many odds
