

SWACHHTA PAKHWADA:

DEBATE COMPETITION

The objective of cleaning is not just to clean, but to feel happiness living within that environment. Parivartan, the NSS unit of Mata Sundri College for Women organized an insightful 'Debate Competition' on the 5th of September, 2021 via Google Meet. It was celebrated under Swachhta Pakhwada.

The topic for the debate was- 'Swachhta Abhiyan: A hashtag or a campaign?' The volunteers opted to speak both in English and Hindi. A total of 25 volunteers participated in this event and made it successful. The discussions were done about the importance of this campaign and how we have actually contributed or it is all just a social media act. The volunteers were divided into sets on the basis of language and their motion on the topic. The teams would question each and were marked according to the answers they gave.

Many volunteers shared that they feel that maximum people are more active about this campaign on social media platforms than actively participating in it. They feel that there is a lack of coordination and implementation. Whereas, on the other side people said that this campaign is a great initiative and a great success as they themselves have done quite a lot of cleanliness drives be it in school or college. To conclude, we can say that this was a healthy discussion and, in the end, everyone learnt from this and decided that they'll surely do everything that they can to bring about a change.
