

SANGINI SAHELI
ORIENTATION (ONLINE)

Parivartan, The NSS unit of Mata Sundri College for Women in collaboration with Sangini Saheli is about to start their journey to bring a change. 'Sangini Saheli' by Priyal Bhardwaj is a women welfare initiative where we are actively working to empower, uplift and connect women and children by opening access, creating opportunities and equal avenues. Sangini Saheli organization believes that providing equal opportunity for overall growth and development to all children, women, disabled and less-privileged, is every individual's responsibility and not just the government's duty.

Only when an entire nation works towards bridging the socio-economic gap can there be a change resulting in nation's economic progress. In a vast country like India, where this gap is big, it becomes a necessity that every citizen thinks beyond oneself and family to contribute their time and energy towards a social cause. Millions of children in our country lack basic necessities of life like food and proper shelter, let alone hygienic living conditions and education.

The orientation helped the volunteers understand the above mentioned aims of the trust. The event was organised on 12 September, 2021 via ZOOM. The aim is to educate and give guidance about opportunities for livelihood, making them self-sufficient and helping them come out of their situation. 36 Volunteers participated in this event and made it a huge success.
