

SOLIDITY WEEK

BODY PAINTING

Parivartan, the NSS unit of Mata Sundri College for Women organized "Body Painting" under solidarity week. It was conducted on 27th June, 2021 and volunteers were asked to submit their entries by 10pm. Bodypainting is an art form which are only used to paint human skin. The motive was to enrich the volunteer's creativity through body painting. It's no secret that we love all things creative and artistic. Body painting is within the same category as cosmetics and make up, and in fact are often applied as such. For events that require a visual punch, or to get a lot of attention, body paint is extremely effective, memorable, and they are great to look back on in photo albums. 10 Volunteers had participated actively in the bodypainting event. Some painted their face , legs , while some painted hands and arms. It was amazing to see our volunteers' creative side. They looked absolute gorgeous.
