The Department of Psychology successfully organised its annual fest, PSYNERGY '26, on 4th November 2026 within the college premises. Adhering to a warm pastel aesthetic—featuring soft tones of pink, red, orange, yellow, and white—the venue hosted well-received interactive game stalls and sticky-note expression corners that fostered student participation, inclusivity, and practical insight into psychological concepts. A central highlight of the event was a purposeful NukkadNatak on Saathi Support, which effectively promoted the value of peer-based mental health guidance while reinforcing the boundaries between mutual student support and clinical therapy. The venue featured dedicated photo booths, widely appreciated student-led decor, and diverse stalls spanning Chinese cuisine, desserts, apparel, handmade jewellery, flowers, and internship opportunities. The event concluded on an exceptionally positive note, with students remaining thoroughly engaged, satisfied, and happy throughout the day, marking the fest as a resounding success.
